

SAT prep is definitely an investment and it has paid off tremendously for our family. After prepping for approximately 3 months (twice per week) during her junior year, our daughter's SAT score increased by 200 points from her initial practice test score. Academic Solutions analyzed her strengths and weaknesses, provided test-taking strategies, worked on pacing and offered guidance on how best to showcase her writing abilities. As a result of our investment, our daughter was able to apply via Early Action, was accepted to all 5 colleges that she applied to (including UGA) and was offered significant scholarship money at the out-of-state schools that she is considering. A final decision has yet to be reached, but having so many options has made her senior year far less stressful than it would have been otherwise.
